William McKinney is Inducted Into The John Hancock Financial Network Hall of Fame

BOSTON, MA (May 26, 2010) — Silver Spring resident, William McKinney, a financial representative with Signature Financial Partners, LLC., was recently inducted into the prestigious John Hancock Financial Network (JHFN) Hall of Fame for 2010.

With over 32 years of experience in the financial services business, McKinney started his career by visiting the military bases nearby and taking names of those living on the base. He would then follow up with a phone call and an appointment. Today, he continues to serve his large client base by offering protection and investment products to help his clients reach their financial goals.

“To be inducted into JHFN’s Hall of Fame, a financial representative must have proven his commitment to achieving client excellence over his career,” explained Brian Heapps, Executive Vice President of Sales and Business Development at John Hancock Financial Network. “We look to our ‘Hall of Famers’ to be role models in business success as well as civic involvement. It’s a great pleasure to welcome Bill as one of our newest inductees.”
